FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 29, 1895.

FIGHT AT A CHURCH.—A sensational encounter took place at a church near Manchester, in Clay county, Ky., yesterday, in which one man was killed, three seriously, if not fatally, wounded and two others slightly wounded. Only one man who took part in the fight escaped unharmed. The fight was between John Boles, his two sons and Robert Helton on one side, and John Roberts and Julius Webb, young men of about twenty-five years, on the other. The trouble was renewed at the church door after the services, and all the men being armed, shooting began at once. John Boles fell dead from a pistol shot. His two sons and Robt. Helton were badly wounded, and it is thought they could not recover. John Roberts was slightly wounded, and Deputy Sheriff Jesse Allen, who attempted to stop the fight, received a scalp wound. Julius Webb was unharmed. The church where the shooting took place has been the scene of several shooting scrapes, some of which have proved fatal. A man named Howard killed his nephew there a few years ago.

SHOT HIS CAPTORS.—On Saturday last Bernard Brooks, a mulatto, who was misbehaving in this place, was arrested and as he showed a vicious spirit he was handcuffed and as Constable Anderson with Mr. J. S. Mason and Arthur Rawlings were conducting him to Warrenton, the last two riding in front, Brooks thrust one of his handcuffed hands into his pocket, drew a revolver and fired three times, one of the shots taking effect in Mr. Mason's horse and the other two barely missing Mr. Rawlings and Mr. Anderson. Brooks is a good shot and if he had not been handcuffed it is believed he would have shot all three. Messrs. Mason and Rawlings were unarmed, but Mr. Anderson promptly drew his pistol and snapped it three times at Brooks, who ran away. Mr. Rawlings was dispatched for a pistol and when he arrived with two, well loaded, Mr. Anderson had compelled Brooks to surrender at the point of his pistol and he was brought down to Warrenton for the action of the court.—Warrenton Virginian.

How to Prevent Croup.
SOME READING THAT WILL PROVE INTERESTING TO YOUNG MOTHERS. HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THE DISEASE.
Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by L. Stabler & Co., Druggists.

"Escaped being a confirmed dyspeptic by taking Ayer's Pills in time." This is the experience of many. Ayer's Pills, whether as an after-dinner pill or as a remedy for liver complaint, indigestion, flatulency, water brash, and nausea, are invaluable.

Winter Excursion Tickets.
On November 1st the Pennsylvania Railroad Company placed on sale excursion tickets to all prominent winter resorts in New Jersey, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Cuba. The tickets are sold at the usual low rates.

The CENTURY FOR THE COMING YEAR

The Century Magazine celebrates its quarter-century in its November issue. In honor of the occasion it does a new dress of type and appears in a new and artistic cover. The programme for the coming year contains a number of interesting features. Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel, "Sir George Tressady," has been secured for its pages. The story will be the leading feature in fiction for the coming twelve months, other and shorter novels being contributed by W. D. Howells, F. Hopkinson Smith, Mary Halleck Foote, and Amelia E. Barr. There will also be contributions from Mark Twain and Rudyard Kipling; a series of articles on the great naval engagements of Nelson, by Captain Alfred T. Mahan; three articles on Rome, contributed by Marion Crawford, and superbly illustrated; a series of articles by George Kennan, on the Mountains and the Mountains of the Eastern Caucasus; articles by Henry M. Stanley and the late E. J. Glaister, on a series of papers on "The Administration of the Cities of the United States," by Dr. Albert Shaw. The Century will also contain during the year a great number of papers on art subjects, richly illustrated. Prof. Sloane's "Life of Napoleon," with its wealth of illustrations, will reach its most interesting part. In order that new subscribers may obtain the whole of this monumental work, the publishers have made a rate of $5, for which one can have a year's subscription from November '95, and all of the numbers for the past twelve months, from the beginning of Prof. Sloane's history.

St. Nicholas in 1896.

For almost a quarter of a century St. Nicholas Magazine has been bearing its welcome message each month to the young people of the land. It has been fortunate in securing contributions for its pages from leading writers and artists, while it has given to its readers many works that have become imperishable classics in juvenile literature. The magazine is a help to those that have the care and upbringing of children, in that it is full of brightness and interest and tends to cultivate high aspirations, without being "preachy" and prosy. During the coming year the leading feature will be a series of letters written to young people from Santa by Robert Louis Stevenson. Rudyard Kipling will write for it, and James Whitcomb Riley will contribute a poem to the Christmas number. "The Swordmaker's Son" is a story of boy-life in Palestine at the time of the founding of Christianity. It is written by W. O. Stoddard. "The Prize Cup" is one of J. T. Trowbridge's best stories. Albert Stearns has written another story, in "Sinbad, Smith & Co.," he has again gone to "The Arabian Nights" for inspiration. These are but a few of the features. During the coming year $1,000 will be given away in prizes.
